THE
AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE FOR 1885.

[PUBLISHERS' PRICES.]

NOTICE.—In this Catalogue only prices made by publishers themselves are given—retail, if retail, in first column; “net” (wholesale), if “net,” in second column; where a “mailing” percentage is specified by the publisher, the “mailing price” is given in the retail column marked with an asterisk (), in addition to the wholesale price. When price-columns are left blank, the publisher failed, on application, to furnish price. A double asterisk () in price-columns designates books forthcoming. New books, issued since the publication of the Catalogue of 1884, are designated by a single asterisk () before title.

 In comparing prices or ordering at retail, private buyers should bear in mind that a percentage must be added to prices quoted at wholesale, to cover freight, handling, delivering, etc. Discounts on quantities vary on different lines, according to the kind of prices adopted by the respective publishers.

For subject classification (and for collective references to classic authors entered here under separate editors), see the second part of the Catalogue, following this main alphabet.

HENRY HOLT & COMPANY'S

Important New Text-Books.

Johnston's History of the United States.

History of the United States for Schools. By ALEXANDER JOHNSTON, Professor in Princeton College, author of a "History of American Politics." 12mo, 460 pp. Ready in July.

This book is a history of the United States, and not principally history of the colonies from which the United States sprang. While few boys will ever have an opportunity to figure as leaders of colonies or armies, almost every boy will soon be called upon to vote upon questions which involve some understanding of the political, financial, or economic problems of the past; and the average school-boy must get his information concerning such matters from his school history of the United States, if he is to get it at all in school. Accordingly the present work is an attempt to convey to the mind of the future voter such lessons from our political and economic experience as the youthful mind is ready to receive.

Martin's New Elementary Physiology.

The Human Body—Elementary Course. By H. NEWELL MARTIN, Professor in the Johns Hopkins University, and HETTY CARY MARTIN. 12mo, 261 pp.; 90 cents.

A very earnest attempt has been made to present the subject so that children may easily understand it, and, whenever possible, to start with familiar facts and gradually to lead up to less obvious ones. Only so much of Anatomy and Physiology has been introduced as was necessary to make clear the reasons of the rules for the preservation of health. Practical directions are given for the illustration to pupils of the various facts under consideration, which can be shown without special apparatus or material not easily obtainable. Particular attention has been paid to the action on the body of the more commonly abused stimulants and narcotics.

Whitney's Brief German Grammar.

A Brief German Grammar, with references to his larger German Grammar. By WILLIAM D. WHITNEY, Professor in Yale College. 16mo, 129 pp.; 75 cents.

Some teachers who approve Prof. Whitney's system, find his Compendious German Grammar too long, and others find it too hard, and both classes object to the trouble of picking out the portions in larger type, or to paying for all of the book when they use only parts of it. To meet the wants of such, he has prepared a briefer book, containing only the principal features of the larger one, suitably modified and connected, omitting exceptions and details, and provided with a good set of exercises.

Newcomb's New Mathematical Books.

Analytic Geometry. By SIMON NEWCOMB, Professor in the Johns Hopkins University. 12mo, 357 pp.; $1.50.

This work is so constructed as to offer a wide range of choice in the course to be pursued. It is adapted both to those who expect to apply the subject to practical problems in Mechanics and Engineering, and also to those who desire to make a special study of advanced mathematics. Part I. is so arranged that a practical course may be made up by omitting certain sections and adding Part II., which treats of Geometry of three dimensions. The sections omitted in the practical course, together with Part III., form an introduction to modern projective geometry, a course of reading in which is outlined.

Essentials of Trigonometry, Plane and Spherical. 12mo, 187 pp.; $1.25.

A short course for those who find the larger work by the same author too comprehensive. This work is much more elementary in treatment than the larger, and contains some practical applications of the formulæ of surveying.

Aubert's Littérature Française.

Littérature Française, Première Année. By EUGENE AUBERT, Professor in the Normal College, New York City. 16mo, 237 pp., $1.25.

Selections of complete works where practicable, from the leading classic and modern French writers, and collections of their notable sentences, with biographical notices, criticisms and explanatory notes. All the editorial matter is in French. The second work in the author's "Normal Series."

THE CURTISS SYSTEM OF PENMANSHIP.

FIRST STATE NORMAL SCHOOL, WINONA, MINN.

After an experience of more than thirty years in educational work, the undersigned takes pleasure in saying that he has never witnessed so thorough and successful a method of teaching this important branch of common school education.

WM. F. PHELPS, Pres.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL, OSMKOSH, WIS., Oct. 13, 1884.
PROF. C. C. CURTISS.

MY DEAR SIR:—Please accept the thanks of the entire school, students and teachers, for your remarkable presentation of the subject of penmanship.

To most the subject has been one of pitfalls, more or less arbitrarily arranged, full of left curves, right curves, loops, points and turns—pieces called principles.

Since the chances of going wrong, as to the exact slope or curve, are manifold for every successful result, few of all the teachers and pupils of the public schools ever withdraw their attention from other things to make any really manly effort for success.

You have done this for us all; we know that the letters are not arbitrary in all their parts, but are the result of mental purpose, joined to their fundamental by those moves which execute most easily.

You give the motive for each letter, and explain how it is most easily fashioned.

The gradation of your exercises is at once a guide to right action, and a protection from wrong habits.

The whole country is ashamed of its penmanship, and we will do what we can to see that our students carry forth with them the will and ability to impress right habits in writing upon their schools, upon the basis that is so accordant with mental process.

Yours truly, G. S. ALBEE, Pres.

JEFFERSON SCHOOL, MINNEAPOLIS, May 19, 1884.

D. D. MERRILL,

SIR:—As the Curtiss System of Penmanship is founded upon principles underlying all true education, its correct teaching and practice is an invaluable factor in a training for practical life.

The charts are a valuable auxiliary, both to teacher and taught. Respectfully, M. T. WARDWELL.

THE CURTISS WRITING CHARTS.

The only charts embodying those ideas which lead to natural, easy and rapid writing.

These charts differ from all others heretofore published, in the following points.

1. They present the most systematic and progressive series of copies ever published.
2. They present letters as wholes, and give them in all possible combinations with other letters.
3. Each copy, while presenting a new letter, illustrates this letter in combination with letters previously taught.
4. The copies on the charts exactly correspond with the copies in the books.
5. The movement exercises, which are a part of each lesson, are so arranged as to enable the pupil gradually to obtain control of the hand, which implies skill in making the letters.
6. The charts are printed in black letters, on heavy white calendered paper, having the same appearance as ordinary writing.
7. The size of each chart is 22 by 28 inches. There are fifty-six in the series, and they are mounted in two parts. Part First is devoted to the forms and combinations of the small letters, capitals and figures. Part Second comprises a graded series of exercises on the movements required to produce letters with ease and rapidity.
8. These charts contain at least seven times as much available matter as any heretofore published.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL, RIVER FALLS, WIS., May 7.

D. D. MERRILL, ESQ.

DEAR SIR:—I have examined Curtiss Writing Charts with interest, and I do not hesitate to say, that I believe the charts are destined through merit, to afford to the great mass of learners the incomparable facilities that Prof. Curtiss himself has offered to his numerous pupils. I hope you will spare no effort to place Prof. Curtiss' models before teachers and pupils. Respectfully, W. D. PARKER.

MERRILL'S ELEMENTARY GEOGRAPHY.

Mr. D. D. MERRILL,

DEAR SIR:—I have examined your publication of "Niles" Geography, and I very cordially indorse it as a most excellent text-book in geography.

In appearance and arrangement of parts it ranks with the best. It is quite unique in its excellent plans of questioning, which tend to cultivate observation and judgment in the learner, and also in the abundance of suggestions to teachers.

Sincerely yours,

D. L. KIEHLE, Supt. Public Instruction.

MY DEAR SIR:—I have examined your Elementary Geography with considerable care. I have been highly pleased in discovering its many excellencies, and I do not hesitate to say that I believe it to be the best Elementary Geography in the market. The subject matter has been wisely chosen, and treated in accordance with the most approved methods of teaching this subject. The style of the narrative is simple and direct, and within the easy comprehension of the children for whom it is written. The "pleasant journeys" and the graphic, though simple descriptions cannot fail to arouse interest and quicken the imagination. The questions on the text, and its pictures, are unique and refreshing in their unlikeness to the usual text-book questions. Their evident design is to incite thought, and to guide the imagination rather than to drill the memory. A careful comparison with other geographies convinces me that this book contains a much larger amount of useful geographical information than any other elementary text-book on the subject. Useless map questions are omitted, and those which are inserted are made subordinate, as they should be, to the descriptive text. The illustrations, maps, letter-press and mechanical execution of the book are beyond criticism.

In my opinion, this book contains more professional common sense than any geography published and will do much to revolutionize the study of this important and delightful subject. Very truly yours, IRWIN SHEPARD.

Pres. STATE NORMAL SCHOOL, WINONA.

I have read with much interest the text-book on geography forwarded to me a few weeks since. As an introductory book it seems to me to be well adapted to its purpose. . . . The arrangement of the topics is in accordance with the true order of study as recognized by the best teachers.

That teacher must be a very poor teacher who cannot, with this manual of introductory geography, successfully lay the foundation for a correct knowledge of this useful branch of learning. Yours very truly,

WM. F. PHELPS, WINONA.

D. D. MERRILL, ESQ.,

DEAR SIR:—In brief, permit me to say that I have carefully examined "Niles" Elementary Geography. Its quality and quantity recommend it to the place which it is designed to fill. It presents the subject in a natural way; stimulates inquiry; corrects verbosity, and exhibits point and freshness. Yours, O. V. TOUSLEY.

Supt. Minneapolis Public Schools.

PRES. SEARING, says:

I think you are to be congratulated on your Elementary Geography, a copy of which I have received and examined. It seems to have been prepared with skill and good taste. Interest and instructions are happily combined. Typographically and pictorially, it is above criticism. The general plan of instruction which the work is intended to facilitate I heartily approve.

We shall undoubtedly use the book in our model school the coming year, if not sooner.

EDWARD SEARING,

President State Normal School, Mankato.

In the story form the current of each national life will be distinctly indicated, and its picturesque and noteworthy periods and episodes will be presented for the young reader in their philosophical relations to each other as well as to universal history. The subjects of the different volumes will be planned to cover connecting and, as far as possible, consecutive epochs or periods, so that the set, when completed, will present in a comprehensive narrative the chief events in the great STORY OF THE NATIONS; but it will, of course, not always prove practicable to issue the several volumes in their chronological order. The "Stories" will be printed in good readable type, and in handsome 12mo form. They will be adequately illustrated and furnished with maps and indexes. They will be sold separately, at a price of about $1.50 each. . . . The following is a partial list of the subjects thus far determined upon:
The story of Egypt, Assyria, Greece, The Jews, Rome, Carthage, Gaul, Byzantium, Early Britain, Scandinavia, The Goths, The Normans, The Saracens, The Italian Republics, Spain, Germany, Holland, etc.
- The first volumes in readiness will be "Greece," by Prof. James A. Harrison, of the Washington and Lee University; "Rome," by Arthur Gilman; and "The Jews," by Prof. James K. Hosmer, of Washington University. (See separate prospectus.)

"There is no book upon this subject, whether popular or profound, that considers the question of pronunciation in its most general sense, no work sufficiently simple and brief, on the one hand, to meet the wants of ordinary people, and yet sufficiently complete and accurate on the other, to satisfy those of more scholarly attainment. Such a book I have endeavored to prepare."—AUTHOR'S PREFACE.

BEST TEXT-BOOKS FOR SCHOOLS.

Young Folks' Physiology :

OUR BODIES AND HOW WE LIVE.

An Elementary Text-book of Physiology and Hygiene, for use in the Common Schools, with special reference to the effects of Stimulants and Narcotics on the Human System. By ALBERT F. BLAISDELL, M. D. Fully illustrated. The demand for copies of this work is quite unprecedented.

The leading medical journals of the country unanimously indorse the work.

The Western Christian Advocate, in a careful review, says: "We commend it to our school teachers. While legislators, under the domination of saloon keepers, are delaying legislation for the enforcement of instruction in our common schools in reference to the influence of stimulants and narcotics on the human system, let the teachers place this book in the hands of the classes of physiology."

As a book to teach from, this work is without an equal. It inculcates the idea that the object of school physiology is to familiarize the pupil, by experiments of an easy character, with the laws of natural hygiene, and, from first to last, the method is accurate, attractive, sensible, and practical.

Specimen copies sent by mail on receipt of 60 cents.

NEW EDITION.

Young Folks' History of the United States.

By THOMAS WENTWORTH HIGGINSON.

It seems almost superfluous to call attention to a work which has so rapidly won the estimation of the teachers of this country. Its success has been something marvellous, and yet well-founded, as experience has shown. As a text-book in public schools it has marked a new era in teaching history; readers and lovers of history among our boys and girls are the result of its use in the school-room. The distinctive features of this popular work are:

It sets before the mind of the pupil a clear idea of what the people of the United States have been from their first settlement on this continent.

It lays more stress on the affairs of peace than war; more on facts which concern human progress than on mere names and dates.

It furnishes a stimulus for wider reading, and makes historical study agreeable, rather than a task to be avoided or carried on by mere routine.

Thousands of teachers everywhere have given it their heartiest endorsement.

HINTS TO GOOD BEHAVIOR.

Lessons on Manners.

FOR SCHOOL USE. By EDITH E. WIGGIN.

Good manners, like good morals, are best taught by the teacher's example; but definite lessons, in which this most important subject can be considered in its appropriate divisions, are of great value, if we would have our children attain to "that finest of the fine arts,—a beautiful behavior."

Each lesson in this attractive little book is preceded by a diagram for blackboard exercises, and the general plan is best indicated by the following table of contents:

- Lesson I. —Manners in General.
- Lesson II. —Manners at School.
- Lesson III. —Manners on the Street.
- Lesson IV. —Manners at Home.
- Lesson V. —Manners toward the Aged.
- Lesson VI. —Manners at the Table.
- Lesson VII. —Manners in Society.
- Lesson VIII. —Manners at Church.
